BURAK ÖZDEMİR SAMPLING BAROQUE

INTRODUCTION

The music already exists, unwittingly, in our memories.

It reappears unexpectedly, triggered by strange associations of which we are scarcely aware. We are bound to recollect images, impressions that mostly occur in our childhood and adolescence and that alter with new experiences, in permanent renewal. At some point a forgotten memory, an image, a sound, or a phrase we recorded reappears in the process of every project: an indication that guides us, toward a certain path: sampling.

CROSSING THE BRIDGE BETWEEN BAROQUE AND TODAY

In recent years, boundaries between musical genres have become increasingly invisible. More and more artists are mixing up early music and jazz, classical music and pop, improvisation and rock or all in one pot with their vision and virtuosity.

With the project SAMPLING BAROQUE, Burak and ensemble Musica Sequenza introduce a dialogue of genres and styles, developing a new kind of music that is free of ideology, yet curious, sound-oriented and beyond the respective musical origin. Baroque instruments of 18th century resonate beside synthesizers and digital sonic elements, promising their musical expeditions to be the undiscovered world of Electro-Baroque; a genre defined through Burak's latest avant-garde.
